Seminar 61/19

Seminar on Forensic Psychiatry in Europe for consultants and experienced trainees

Preliminary programme

Promotion of healthy sexual behaviours requires not only prevention of sex offending but also recognition that, among other serious offenders, with and without mental disorder, lengthy confinement in institutions generally occurs during their most sexually active years.

This seminar will cover assessment of offenders, specialist treatments to stop this and to help them towards more prosocial behaviours and reintegration into society. It will also explore consensual and nonconsensual sex in institutions and special concerns about adolescents in this context.

Repeat participants are encouraged to bring their own cases for which they would like discussion/tutoring.
